 WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

WHERE was the tariff in Bryan's speech Thursday? He skillfully avoided it. He seemed to know of numberless things which he thought best to keep to himself.

A STRAW vote taken on the train down to the Bryan speech Thursday developed the fact that about one-third were Republicans. The vote stood 174 for Bryan, to 83 for McKinley.

BRYAN'S voice was in very bad order yesterday. His throat seemed to be absolutely raw and his tones had that sharp rasp that is given out by a buck-saw when driven through splintered wood.

THE Cockran meeting today at Parkersburg should be liberally attended by Mariettians, as a very low rate has been made—25 cents the round trip, with a special return train home, leaving at 4:30 o'clock. Great preparation is being made by the people of Parkersburg, and it will be a great day.

WELL, the great Bryan hippodrome at Parkersburg is now a matter of history. The man has come and gone, and the people saw and heard to fairly good advantage. He is of the true speaker type, and he has the ways and the blandishments of the slick orator, who, whether he has something to say or not, so delivers himself that he makes a portion of the people think that they have heard something wonderful.

The meeting was certainly a very great one—there being on the ground perhaps twelve thousand people, many of whom let off their enthusiasm at hair trigger.

The only feature of the man that has seemed to suffer from the severe campaigning is his voice. It shows too much long-range and long-time use.
 He was very hoarse and spoke with apparent difficulty.

For about thirty minutes the Boy Orator of the Platte uttered his plat-itudes which lacked any crispness or newness whatsoever. His principal talk consisted of a lot of introductory idle jollies at which some members of the crowd went mad with delight—just what Bryan likes. He seemed to want to get close to the "people" whom he would have believe he is their liberator and special messenger from the gods of fortune and good luck. He spoke on the money question, only, never once referring to any other issue that is reasonably to be fought for. He never once said what his attitude is toward the Supreme Court of the United States, or how he stood on the question of Government interference in difficulties of State and municipality.

With the bringing about of the Bryan idea the orator of the day failed to say how the dear people would come into possession of the dollars of silver, or how they would circulate from man to man. His remarks were all abstract, and lacked the analysis and lucid explanation of the true thinker. Bryan blandly left his hearers with the idea that they would have plenty of money, and they seemed to be hypocritically happy in the possession of that information.

The Boy Orator is a smooth fellow, and he has the cast of countenance that generally goes with the actor. He looks older than thirty-six, but it is safe to say that he will look many thousand years older before he is the President of these United States.

Cockran-Gowen Meeting.
 Ex-Senator J. N. Camden will preside at the meeting at Parkersburg today at which the Hon. Bourke Cockran and Hon. John K. Cowen will speak.
 The meeting will be one of the most notable of the campaign.

It is distinctly under the auspices of Sound Money Democrats, and local Sound Money Democrats are arranging the details of the meeting.

The speeches of these two orators will be strong, earnest and eloquent pleas for an honest dollar and a warning against the revolutionary declaration of Bryan's platform.

Loyal Democrats who value their country's good above party lines are behind the meeting from purely patriotic motives.

Words are needless to express the significance of the great meeting. It is the duty of every loyal Republican and every loyal Democrat to indorse the stand taken by our Sound Money brothers, by his presence at the meeting.

McKinley on "Protection and Prosperity." Major McKinley has written an introduction to the great book on tariff, "Protection and Prosperity." The following is an extract:

"Thirty years of protection has brought us to the first rank in agriculture, in mining and in manufacturing development. We lead all nations in these three great departments of industry. We have outstripped even the United Kingdom, which had centuries the start of us. As I have said above her fiscal policy for fifty years past has been the free trade revenue tariff policy, ours for thirty-two years the protective tariff policy. Tried by any test, measured by any standard, we lead all the rest of the world. Protection has vindicated itself. It cannot be helped by eulogy nor hurt by defamation. It has worked out its own demonstration, and presents in the sight of the whole world its matchless trophies. It can not be cried down by false names nor injured by offensive epithets nor can it any longer suffer from falsehood, nor the forebodings of the false prophet.
 It has triumphed over all its traducers at home and abroad. It has made the lives of the masses of our countrymen sweeter and brighter, and has entered the homes of America carrying comfort and cheer and courage.
 It gives a premium to human energy, and awakens the noblest aspirations in the breasts of men. Our own experience shows that it is best for our citizenship and our civilization, and that it opens up a higher and better destiny for our people.

Sixteen to One.
 This is the ratio at which the silver mine owners want the mints opened to free coinage. They want sixteen ounces of silver made equal to one ounce of gold, while according to the actual value it takes thirty-one ounces of silver to equal one ounce of gold.
 The silver mine owners ask to have 53 cents worth of their silver coined into a dollar and returned to them without charge. In addition to this they ask the government to pass a law making these 53-cent dollars legal tender for all sorts of debts, thus giving the silver mine owners the privilege of paying 100 cents of the debts with 53 cents of silver. This is free coinage at sixteen to one. It is a great thing for the silver mine owners, but a very bad thing for everybody who will be compelled to take their 53-cent dollars in exchange for 100 cents' worth of labor or commodities.—Times Recorder.

BRYAN'S invective against the Republicans was awfully weak stuff. He attempted it once, but it was scarcely recognized, so he let it drop.

BRYAN simply asserts. He does not justify his statements by anything that approaches logic or argument. He says things will be thus and so, "because."

OUR genial friend, Hon. J. D. Payne, was one of the conspicuous figures on the platform down at the Bryan meeting Thursday. Payne had his hand up to his ear, but not the slightest whisper of Watson's name did he hear Bryan utter.

The name of either of Bryan's running mates was conspicuously and studiously absent from his speech. He must think he's the only man on the ticket, or if not, why does he not extol the merits of Watson, his logical mate, or Sewall, his real mis-mate?

The Ideal Panacea.
 James L. Francis, Alderman, Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an Ideal Panacea for Coughs, Colds and Lung Complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physician's prescriptions or other preparations."

Rev. John Burgess, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a Minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 50 years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery." Try this Ideal Cough Remedy now. Trial Bottles Free at

ONLY A FEW

Of the Many Democrats Who Oppose Bryan

AND HIS CAUSE OF DISHONOR.

Some of the Men Who Will Not Follow His Flag of Repudiation and Anarchy, Though They Have Long Been Prominent in the Councils of the Democratic Party—Men Whose Opinions Are Worthy of Respect.

To publish a list of all the prominent Democrats who refuse to support Bryan would require many columns of a newspaper. It would be a roll-call of half the men who have won fame and power in the service of the Democratic party, and an account of their work in politics would be nearly a history of the Democratic side of American public affairs for the last 25 years.

It is worth while to call attention to a few of the Democrats who have refused to follow the majority of the Chicago convention into the devious ways of dishonor and ruin. Their party services can be imagined from the offices which they have held or which they are holding now. Among the most notable of the men who deny that Bryanism is Democracy and silently or actively repudiate and antagonize the Bryanese ticket and platform are the following famous Democrats:

Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, New York.
 John G. Carlisle, secretary of the treasury, Kentucky.
 Richard Olney, secretary of state, Massachusetts.
 Elihu A. Herbert, secretary of the navy, Alabama.
 J. Sterling Morton, secretary of agriculture, Nebraska.
 Daniel S. Lamont, secretary of war, New York.
 Judson Harmon, attorney general, Ohio.
 William L. Wilson, postmaster general, West Virginia.
 David R. Francis, secretary of the interior, Missouri.
 John M. Palmer, United States senator, Illinois.
 William F. Vilas, United States senator, Wisconsin.
 John B. Gordon, United States senator, Georgia.
 David B. Hill, United States senator, New York.
 James Smith, Jr., United States senator,
 New Jersey.
 George Gray, United States senator, Delaware.
 William Lindsay, United States senator, Kentucky.
 Donelson Caffery, United States senator, Louisiana.
 Calvin S. Brice, U. S. senator, Ohio.
 Harry W. Rusk, M. C., Maryland.
 John K. Cowen, M. C., Maryland.
 Franklin Bartlett, M. C., New York.
 George B. McCollan, M. C., New York.
 Josiah Patterson, M. C., Tennessee.
 Thomas F. Bayard, ambassador to England, Delaware.
 Wayne McVeagh, ambassador to Italy, Pennsylvania.
 William E. Quinby, minister to the Netherlands, Michigan.
 Edward J. Phelps, ex-minister to Great Britain, Vermont.
 Roswell P. Flower, ex-governor of New York.
 William F. Sheehan, ex-lieutenant governor of New York.
 Robert E. Pattison, ex-governor of Pennsylvania.
 James E. Campbell, ex-governor of Ohio.
 Andrew D. White, ex-minister to Germany and ex-president of Cornell university, New York.
 Charles W. Eliot, president Harvard university, Massachusetts.
 John C. Black, ex-member of congress, Illinois.
 John P. Hopkins, ex-mayor of Chicago.
 Washington Hising, postmaster of Chicago.
 William D. Bynum, ex-member of congress, Indiana.
 Don M. Dickinson, ex-postmaster general, Michigan.
 James M. Waller, ex-governor of Connecticut.
 Thomas O. Broadhead, ex-member of congress, Missouri.
 Joseph H. Outhwaite and George C. Converse, ex-members of congress, Ohio.
 Job Meador, ex-lieutenant governor, Ohio.
 George Hoadly, ex-governor of Ohio, New York.
 Oswald Ottendorfer, editor New York Staats Zeitung.
 Henry Watterson, editor Louisville Courier-Journal.
 Virgil P. Kline of Cleveland.
 Alexander K. McClure, editor Philadelphia Times.
 Carl Schurz, editor Harper's Weekly.
 Charles H. Taylor, editor Boston Globe.
 William A. Lynch, prominent railroad man, Canton, O.
 William C. Whitney, ex-secretary of the navy, New York.
 M. C. Butler, ex-United States senator, South Carolina.
 James Longstreet, ex-minister to Turkey,
 Georgia.
 General Daniel E. Sickles, New York.
 W. Bourke Cockran, ex-member of congress,
 New York.

This list is the merest beginning. It does not touch the vast array of Democrats in all parts of the country who oppose the Popocratic candidate and his platform.

Free coinage would not start a factory or make a demand for an additional day's labor. It would create no new occupations. It would add nothing to the comfort of the masses, the capital of the people or the wealth of the nation. It seeks to introduce a new measure of value, but would add no value to the thing measured.
 It would not conserve values. On the contrary, it would derange all existing values. It would not restore business confidence, but its direct effect would be to destroy the little which yet remains.—
 WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

Cheap Money Very Dear.

In his speech to the delegation of colored citizens from Cleveland, Major Mc-Kinley uttered another of those pithy, pointed and briefly put truths for which he is fast becoming famous when he said:
 "We have a great country, and we must keep it so. We want neither cheap money nor cheap labor. Nothing can be cheap that injures our laboring people."

Mr. Groot's Little Joke.

"If we fail," said Groot of Cleveland, when he informed Bryan of his nomination by the Silver party, "our country will be despoiled, our institutions will be destroyed, and our civilization will perish. Here in Cleveland, where Groot is known, this is funny.— Cleveland Leader.

A Market, Not a Mint.
 "You can not help the farmer by more coinage of silver. He can only be helped by more consumers of his products.
 You can not help him by free trade, but as I have shown, he can be hurt, and seriously hurt, by the free introduction of competing products into this country.
 Better a thousand times enlarge the markets for American products than to enlarge the mints for the silver product of the world. [Tremendous cheering and cries of "You are right."] You might just as well understand now that you can not add value to anything by diminishing the measure of the value with which the thing is sold or exchange-ed. If you can increase the value by lowering the measure of value, and you want to benefit the farmer, then make the bushel smaller, the pound lighter, and declare a legal dozen less than 12.
 [Great laughter.] The home market is the best friend of the farmer. It is his best market. It is his only reliable market. It is his own natural market.
 He should be protected in its enjoyment by wise tariff legislation, and this home market should not be permitted to be destroyed by lessening the demand for American labor and diminishing the pay of American workmen and thereby diminishing the demand for agricultural products." [Applause.]—William McKinley's address to farmers.

OUR LATEST SONG.

BY COUSIN ZEKKE

When we look back over the times gone by—McKinley's ther man we want When prices were good an' wagis were high—McKinley's ther man we want
 When we look back over the last three years—
 McKinley's ther man we want We hev got inter debt ov'er our ears—
 McKinley's ther man we want
 That free-trade bill is a thing ov' ther past—McKinley's ther man we want An' we'll show yew when our votes air cast—
 McKinley's ther man we want They hev baited ther line with a free-silver hook—
 But McKinley's ther man we want.
 We air farmers, but air not ez green ez we look—
 McKinley's ther man we want.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morrison, of Worthington, Ind., "Sun," writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for Constipation and Sick Headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal." Mrs. Annie Stehle, 2925 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never left her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength.

 "Black Crook" is soon to be seen here, and it is with pleasure that we present this superb attraction that has created such a furore wherever it has been presented. New York, Phila-its theatres to the doors. It is almost useless to mention the magnificent scenery and the dazzling costumes, as words fail to express their superlative worth. It will be produced here with the same care that characterized its production in other cities. The entire stage will be cleared to make room for
